

SpotCell 2500Xe indicator change

This bulletin is to inform you about a change in the color of the signal strength and coverage level indicators on the SpotCell 2500Xe.

The 2500Xe has up until now, had blue signal strength and coverage level indicators. As a result of a manufacturing change, the colour of these indicators is now green.

The meaning of the bars has not changed and the system status LED colors will remain the same.

Although most of the SpotCell 2500Xe units that are now shipping will have the new green indicator bars, some units that were manufactured before the change are still in stock and will continue to be deployed until inventory runs out.